

So when that dark mouse finds itself in light colored habitat it can be in big trouble. Its natural predator are owls, but of course if we change the back drop, the dark mouse blends in well, but the light colored mouse is in trouble.